1. Introduction

You may already read or heard one or the other, about the White Brotherhood and it may be that one or the other information in your mind corresponds to the truth. Yet, it may as well be that some of the things you associate with the White Brotherhood, have been formed by some people's imagination, and thus correspond to a reality, created by human beings that does not agree with actual truth.

People have the (ugly) habit of squeezing information puzzles that they intuitively grasp into their own, material-based, social and biographical context, and then interpret, analyze, and structure that part within their own frame of thought. Not infrequently, they then define truths from the consequent construct that they publicly document and sometimes even teach. People have many bad habits and it seems to us that they should start to consciously deal with them.

The White Brotherhood is an energy-based association that cannot have grasped or explained within the material-based frame of thought and if you want to capture it, actually capture it, you need a certain level of consciousness and thus the ability to perceive energy-based. In addition, you should be able to completely stabilize yourself at all times, and ideally you are so advanced in your personal development that you are able to carry the information you receive consciously, with integrity and cleanliness, without you immediately becoming a teacher or a Wise to propagate. Yet another disgusting human behavior that ideally needs to be resolved in human society.

If you have the ability of energy-based perception, we cordially invite you to immerse yourself into the energy of the White Brotherhood and thus, capture it for the first time.

Presumably, you will now experience something that will happen to you as you read the book and, in the near future, repeatedly: You have a brief, pure and clear moment, inside of you. You exactly perceive who the White Brotherhood is. You capture in depth and in a big context and then, everything blurs and it gets very restless inside your chest and in your head. A sign that there is still a lot of untruth, or rather, fabricated realities on this subject, in your holistic system, and your system starts now to get rid of them. From our point of view, and thus with some distance, a normal condition when someone has exposed to high frequencies. A situation, which will now, in the next few hours, trigger some purification processes in your holistic system. For you, a very confusing situation. You do not understand, what is happening to you, just now, in this moment. Thus, your human mind is trying to stabilize with all sorts of explanations. Yet, this usually confuses you even more. Therefore, you may question the book and its information. It tangles you and you put it aside.

Actually a good behavior. For now, your holistic system can purify itself in peace from many untruths imposed in it. Do not reject the book. The book has interwoven with such high and pure forms of energy that it will involuntarily lead you several times into the process just described. Something that you probably do not know yet and thus your human mind cannot classify. Purely factually, however, a completely natural process that you go through, each time. One who supports you essentially and purifies your holistic system of a large amount of useless trash.

Therefore, pick up the book again, as soon as it feels right for you. Read as long as it feels right and when it gets confused and unclear in your head again, put the book deliberately aside, rest a bit and allow the initiated cleaning process without impelling you mentally in it.

If you have the will and the discipline to read the present book in this way, it will be of tremendous service to you and in the end; you will become pure and clear in the truth about the themes of the Ascended Masters, the White Brotherhood and the 12 featured members who introduce themselves in this book.

Until then, however, it probably requires some conscious effort on your part.

To actually understand and use the book and the content it contains, you need a sound basic knowledge of the two different dimensions. The material based so-called third dimension in which you currently predominantly move and the energy-based, so-called fifth dimension, which is now increasingly opening up for humans, thanks to the frequency increase of the Earth. If you are lacking in basic knowledge, we recommend that you first read the book we published, "The Energy-Based Dimension," and allow the knowledge contained therein to have practiced for some time in your life. You absolutely need the basic knowledge described above in order to understand.

The White Brotherhood has not made up of humans. Even though, we all have human experiences, we actually, are all energy-based living, thinking and acting beings. Therefore, you cannot press the association into the materially based, often religiously or spiritually imposed, construct of human beings.

The theme of Ascended Masters and the white brotherhood can only have captured in an energy-based way. This means that you have to be able diving into the energy field of a being or an association and by doing so, being able to grasp the information contained in it in a clear and pure way. On the one hand, this requires a certain amount of practice. On the other hand, however, also a certain level of development of your own inner divine self and a certain personality maturity and awareness of your human self. Since it has drawn you to this book, we assume that you have the appropriate personal skills and it now only requires your conscious decision that you want to preserve the contents of the book in an energy-based way.

Take enough time for reading. Read a section and relax afterwards. This allows your holistic system to process internally the energy-based information, which is also contained in the following lines, and by doing so, to make it accessible to your human mind in human words. You will find that certain human words contain strong fillings. Fillings that involuntarily trigger many images in your head and sometimes, even if you still carry (old) spiritual or religious imprints in you, lead you far away from what we actually meant. For example, "light" is such a word. Yet, "love" or "healing" as well. In addition, if you enter into the energy of these words, which have imbued with various human overhanging fillings, you will learn and recognize a great deal. You personally. For your own enrichment.

We write with great care and we will repeatedly point you to such possible fillings. Nevertheless, we ask you for a related awareness. If you perceive irritation or confusion in yourself, put the book aside for a moment and discuss the irritation with your own inner divine self. This procedure will support you to locate the respective trigger on your own.

The Association of the White Brotherhood is an Association of Ascended Masters. Ascended Masters have mostly dedicated themselves to self-empowerment and personal development. Therefore, this book has not only written to get to know the Ascended Masters and the White Brotherhood better, but, just as much to promote your very personal awareness, self-empowerment and development.

"We" are in this book:

Susanne Edelmann, current human embodiment of Lady Nayla Og-Min and writing author.

Lady Nayla Og-Min, Ascended Master, often embodied as a human. She has been a frequent member of the White Brotherhood leadership throughout her long life, but currently supports on Earth the various realms of various dimensions and on various other planetary constellations within her role within the Galactic Federation of Light.

If you have the ability of an advanced, energy-based perception, consciously dive into the energy signature of Lady Nayla Og-Min, and you will be able capturing her better as a being.

Lord St. Germain, (at best known as Adamus St. Germain, one of his human embodiments). Ascended Master and current leader of the White Brotherhood. Yet, at the same time, in a non-embodied way many times and in different ways supporting on planet earth.

Adamus St. Germain already has a certain fame on planet Earth, and as a result, his name already has a certain amount of filling. By filling, we mean the fact that certain words or even certain names link to a variety of information. Energy-based, additional information, created in a very humanly, material-based way. If you have intuitive access to information, you will be able to perceive it as overlays as you focus on the name with your full perception. This information is mostly about interpretations, personal experiences, human imagination or even feelings and thoughts that other people have interwoven in many ways with this one name. Some of them may be true, but many of them are realities created by humans.

If you dive with your energy-based, expanded perceptual ability into the energy field of a particular (human) being, project, or association, you immediately receive a wealth of information. Facts, truths, the one that is currently.

If you want, we invite you to a personal perception exercise:

Exercise

Focus your perception on the name of Adamus St. Germain and consciously perceive the corresponding fillings, created by humans. Consciously purify yourself holistically then dive into the energy field of Lord St. Germain in an energy-based manner and perceive again.

If you then compare the information obtained, you will probably grasp very clearly, what we mean.

People create a multitude of realities (about others) that are mostly based on a mix of human interpretations within the materially based frame of thought and old stories passed on from person to person. They call these realities truths, without any awareness of what they are actually doing. Seen from the outside, a very strange behavior. Honestly.

However, once a being has lived as a human a few times, he gets some understanding. People who are no longer able to perceive energy-based, lack real access to the actual truth.

Lord Ben Josef Ascended Master and currently also supporting many humans on the planet Earth. He too, has incarnated as humans in different ways and times. The last time as Diego Rivera.

On his side: Nayla Og-Min in the personification of Frida Kahlo.

People create realities about other beings and call them truths. Yet, they are constantly creating more of them. In human language, one would call this a "lie". Yet, if they create these (false) realities about your incarnations, this most unattractive behavior, hurts accordingly, honestly.

However, most people lack access to the truth, and so we assume (now honestly) that behind most of these lies lays a great deal of ignorance and unconsciousness and not primary malice. Even if some of the written and narrated stories are thoroughly interwoven with energies of resentment, denigration, devaluation, falsehood and sometimes, conscious malice. However, the energy-based laws are now getting stronger among the humans and so, flows back to the respective channels without affecting us, respectively, our human incarnations. Something that you, too, personally experience more and more immediately: what you think, do, and want to achieve flows back to you immediately. If you are creating good things for the highest and best of your fellow human beings and this planet, you get back good things for your own life. On the other hand, if you trade based on envy, falseness, revenge or deliberate calculation, this, too, flows back to you accordingly. The energy-based law of cause and effect is now increasingly contributing to the material-based dimension and thus, creating - finally - real justice, even in this habitat.

People sometimes define themselves as teachers. By doing so, they often teach their own realities. Things that are not true.

If they then, tell these realities about you as being or your human embodiments, this is not always so easy to bear. They grasp the little toe of the incarnation of an Ascended Master, analyze it according to their own small and materially based frame of thought, and declare afterwards what they have created, in all seriousness as truth. The other people let them doing so and often even confirm and repeat this realities. By doing so, they fill the (false) information with energy and they become strong, even if they are wrong.

A huge amount of realities that people produce daily. Not only in the area of the White Brotherhood and thus the Ascended Master.

Yet, "we" in this book, consists of one more person:

Lady Magdala, Ascended Master and often embodied as a human, as well. Among others, as Empress Adelheid (together with Lady Nayla Og-Min in the embodiment of the Empress Theophanu) and Catarina de Medici (also together with Lady Nayla Og-Min in the embodiment of Mary Stuart).

If you want, dive into Lady Magdala's name and into her energy field. By doing so, you learn more about her and you will receive many additional information regarding her nature.

At this point, we would like to point out for the first time a certain regularity from our side:

If an Ascended Master embodies himself again as a human being, he usually does so in union with other Ascended Masters and a team of sophisticated beings who also embody themselves as human beings. Often, they live as people in local proximity and connect very strongly to each other in an energy-based way, in order to support and strengthen each other.

This book is a book about the White Brotherhood and so, of course, the book is ultimately a collaborative work of all the Ascended Masters who are currently part of the White Brotherhood. Accordingly, all their energies are included in the sentences and so many members have contributed their own valuable impact in words.

May this book serve you and not only provide you with valuable information, but also promote your personal development!

Sincerely

Susanne Edelmann, Lady Nayla Og-Min, Lord St. Germain, Lord Ben Joseph, Lady Magdala
